1. Dr. W. T. Osowski for the last ten years offers scholarships to S. S. High. Hundred and some students who have benefited by his generosity owe him a debt of gratitude. His memory will live in the achievements of those whom he helped on the road to education.

2. Mrs. S. Bartosik, Miss Frances Thieda, Mrs. A. Miller (standing), Miss G. Rzepecka, and Mrs. J. Wasik (sitting) are the executive officers of the League of Catholic Women who have financed the school band—instruments and uniforms.

3. Rev. A. Nieckarz and Rev. W. Jasionowicz, the athletic directors, and Mr. F. Watta, Mr. W. Butkowski and Mr. F. Sobczak, the coaches, supply the school with vim and pep and spirit hard to beat.

2. who support

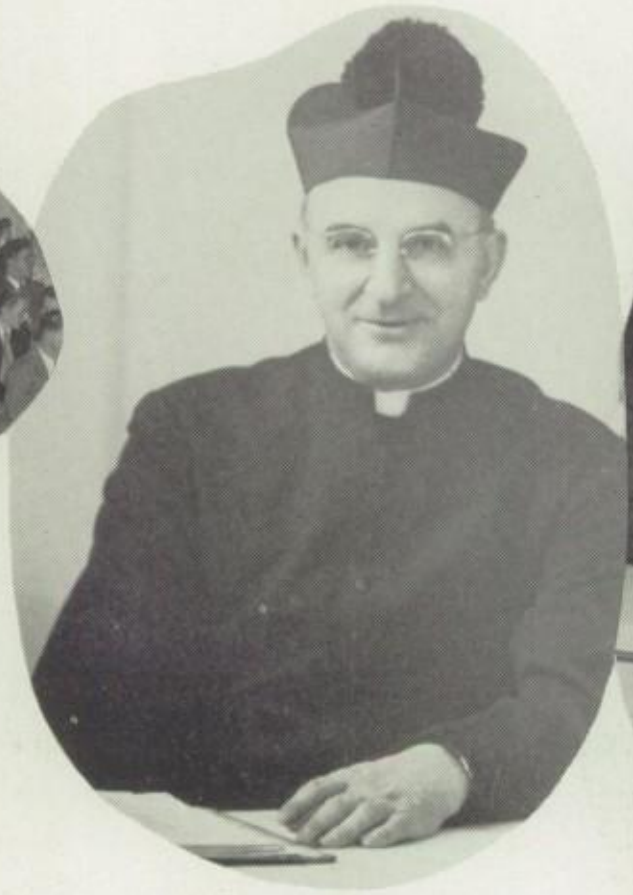
4. who foster friendship



5. who inspires

6. who maintain order

4. The Alumni and Alumnae—The devotion and spirit developed during the school days lives on. With pride and interest they watch over our achievements and support our activities, those big brothers and sisters of S. S. High.

5. Rev. Vincent Borkowicz, our Pastor—In whatever we plan and achieve our Reverend Pastor is the incentive. Under his leadership and guidance the school grows and expands, sending out young men and women well equipped to do their work in God's world.

6. Mr. S. Bartosik, Mr. S. Florian and Mr. J. Minkiewicz spend many an evening at S. S. High, helping to maintain order at our games and other affairs.

7. Mr. J. Szwala, the engineer at S. S. High, adds warmth and cheer "keeping the home fires burning."

Foreword

WHAT'S BEHIND S. S. HIGH?

As you have seen, there is a building well equipped devoted to education; and there are many people who inspire, who serve, who co-operate, who direct, who help and who infuse a spirit of friendship. But is this all? Is this the reason why many boys and girls just like to come back to St. Stanislaus and roam down the corridors looking at the pictures and talking over unforgettable memories? Is this the reason why the seniors "sort of choke up" and begin to cry on Class Night? Is this the reason why juniors want to hold back and not begin their "last year?"

What is that something extra that we have here? In short, it is the S. S. High Way of education—the Catholic Way. There is besides a natural bond, the supernatural bond made by Christ's love. The pattern for education that we have always had at S. S. High is the pattern for peace adopted by U.N.E.S.C.O. which echoed the U. S. Bishop's statement on "Man and the Peace." In the U.N.E.S.C.O. organization, however, there is nothing mentioned about God or the spiritual forces with which cultural aspirations of the world's peace are inexorably bound up; and for this reason we have our doubts about its effectiveness. But it is not so with the traditions and objectives at S. S. High. We are conscious of the Supreme Being in all our work. His teaching permeates the school, its teachers, and its pupils. We are made to realize that God is the true source of authority and knowledge.

Hence, our Pattern for Education as we endeavor to portray in these pages is the U.N.E.S.C.O.'s Pattern for Peace with a modification. We give the first place to God and the Christian principles.

Our Pattern for Education is the Pattern for Peace

SOLIDARITY

The bond that holds the faculty and the student body together is the love of God. It is forged daily at the altar on the basis of God's great commandments: Love thy God above all, and thy neighbor as thyself.

There is unity with God which is strengthened daily by prayer and work.

There is unity with the faculty who is the manifestation of God's authority.

There is unity among the boys and girls augmented by links of friendship and togetherness in classes and outside.

UNIFORMITY OF PURPOSE

The faculty and the pupils have the spirit of cooperation, of sharing responsibilities and of working together for the same purpose—to respect human rights and the common good of mankind —that togetherness is a tradition with us.

COORDINATION of ACTIVITIES

There is no danger of too intense absorption in studies. The boys and girls do not miss anything of the cultural and the social overtones. The school provides—

Physical development by means of sport and Social by various activities where the pupils meet and refine their minds, morals, and tastes.

Solidarity

The spirit at S. S. High is the spirit of friendliness and cooperation founded on love and sacrifice so necessary for solidarity. The faculty is composed of priests and sisters who, motivated by love of God, have chosen to work among God's children, leading their trusts step by step to the attainment of final happiness. In working for others, they find their own happiness. This unity of purpose and this common goal give them a sense of togetherness.

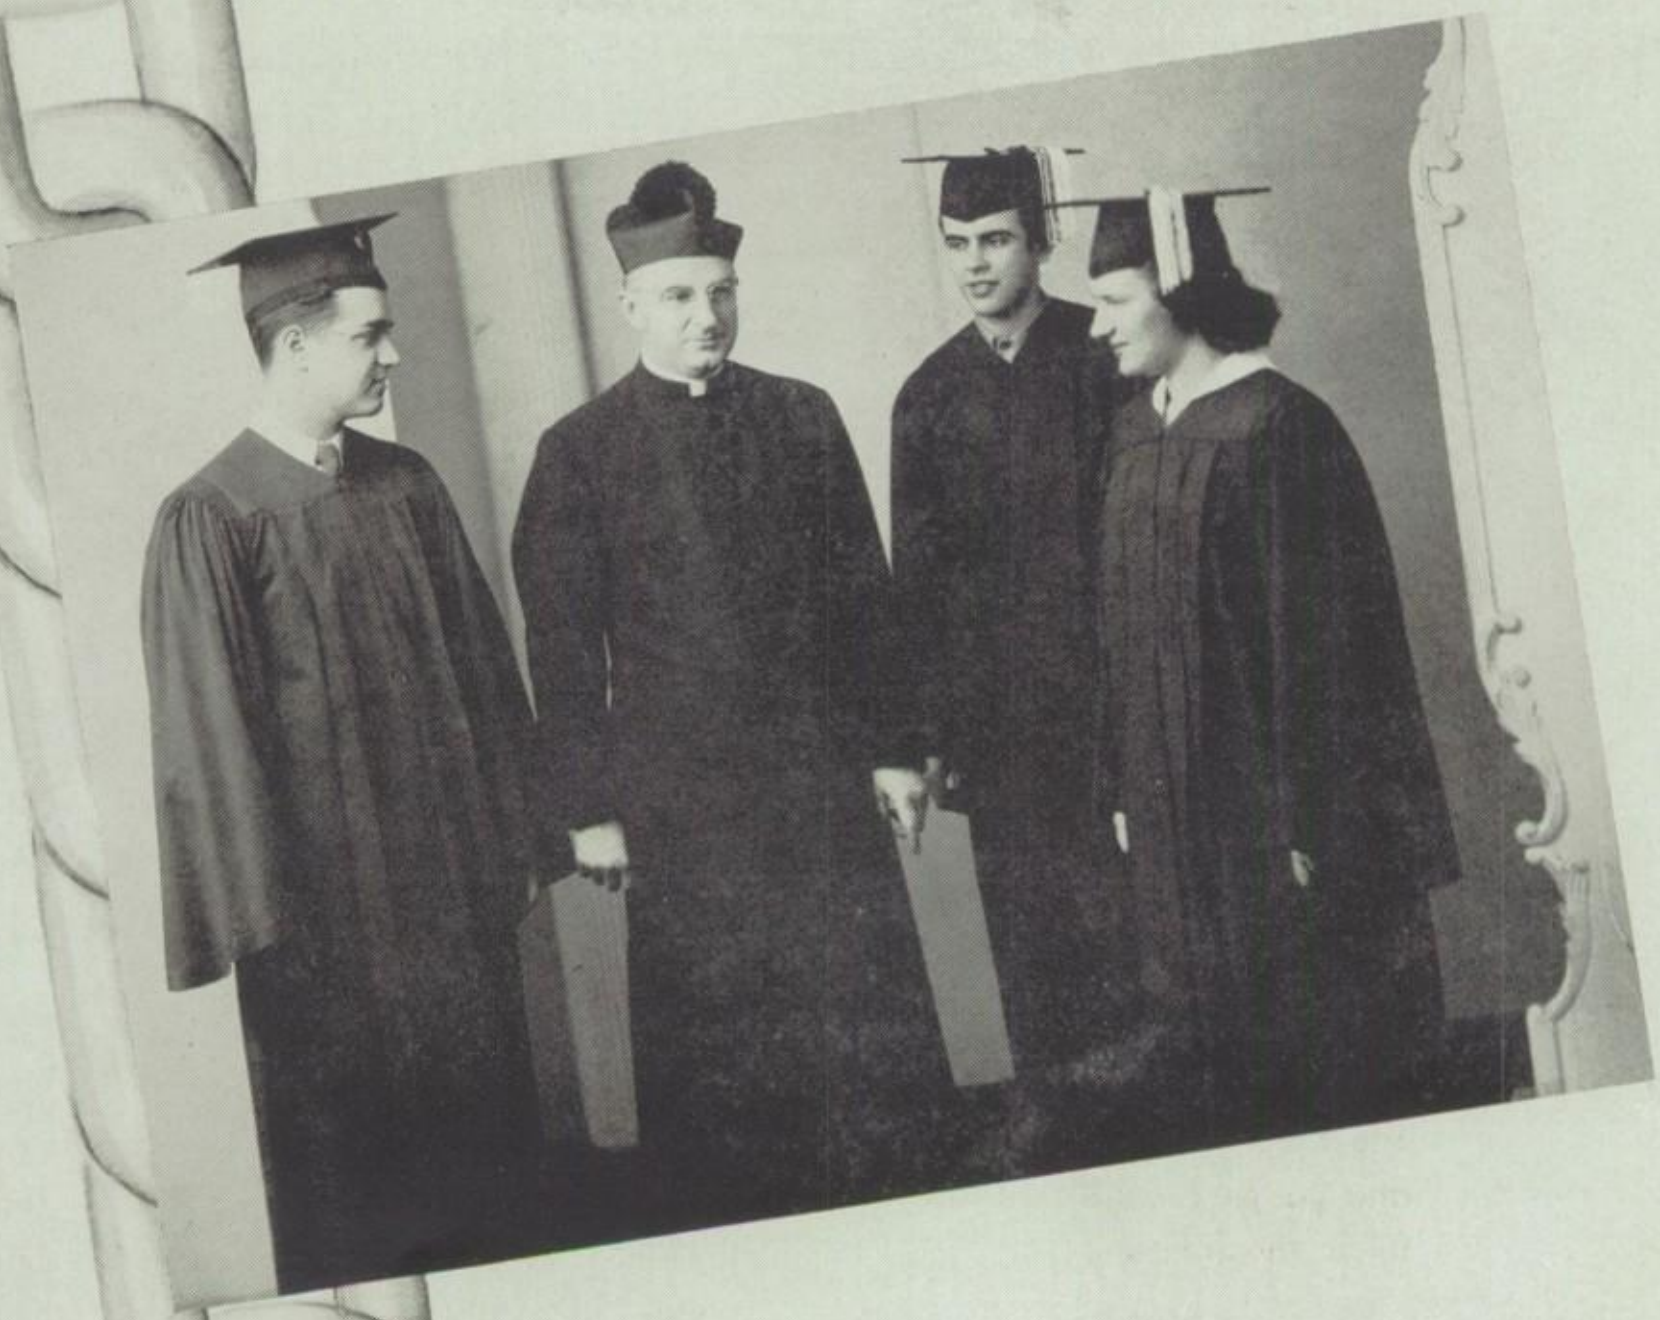
The faculty and the students begin the day together with the Holy Mass—the great central act—at once the pivot and climax of the day. Having started it with Christ, they live it out with His Grace.

Both know the spirit of cooperation and of sharing responsibilities. The faculty guides, directs, and advises without hampering the initiative and yet protecting against mistakes and pitfalls, which could prove harmful in the future.

In carrying out the duties, the boys and girls have many an opportunity for developing social virtues of courtesy, kindness, empathy, mutual trust and forgiveness. True, there is no racial difference in the group at S. S. High, but certainly there is a variety of disposition which calls for self-discipline, self-sacrifice, and empathy. They rub shoulders with all types of individuals. One class is dependent on the other. Each must contribute to the common good.

It is the hope of the administration that the social virtues of solidarity formed in the school will be transferred into life and contribute to lasting peace.

The commond bond, then, which joins the pupils in helpful cooperation is harmony of purpose to carry the banner of human progress upon which rests our only hope for peace on earth and good will among men.



SOLIDARITY

Rev. Bernard Zaglaniczy, an alumnus, strengthens our union with God by his blessing, which he imparted to the student body shortly after his ordination. The camera caught him blessing his brother Henry, a senior.

United

The world is sick today and the society is imperiled; educators are alarmed and have organized along the international lines to study the problems and to propose the remedies. Have they diagnosed the true evils, and eliminated them? Far from it. Their efforts are fruitless for they are not searching in the right place.

The world will be saved only by the personal sanctification of individuals. The only guarantee of peace is the return to God and to the gospel of Jesus Christ, whom He has sent—is the return to the august truths of Christianity.

It is for this reason that boys and girls are encouraged to begin every day of their scholastic days with hearing of the Mass and prayer for their own conversion and that of the world.

Many students seek nourishment for their souls daily and receive the Prince of Peace into their hearts. On First Friday of every month the whole student body approaches the altar and partakes of the bread of Angels and strengthens the links which bind them with God.

Just as through the years of study and education; they derive their help, strength, courage, and inspiration from the tabernacle and mold that chain which binds each one of them with things eternal so on that last day they meet at the foot of the altar for the final crown of merit—their diploma.

The days begin and end with God—that's how peace is made and preserved.

Every day begins with the Holy Sacrifice of Mass when prayers are sent for God's blessing to come down upon us and help us with our day's work.

with God

Once every month on First Friday, the students receive Holy Communion in a body. They work together and pray together.

The altar at St. Stanislaus Church is the magnet which draws us closer to Union with God and through Him with our fellowmen. Here is a scene from last year's graduation. We begin and end our school days at the altar.

to inspire and to love us
A friend during our school days at S. S. High
A friend in our hearts forever!

Zwyciestwo Z Maryja Dla Jezusa

Przypada mi w udziale, jak rok rocznie skreślić kilka pożegnalnych słów dla klasy graduantów z roku 1947.

Z dumą, z zadowoleniem i szczerem uznaniem wywiązuję się z tego miłego obowiązku. Z dumą--bo to najliczniejsza klasa, która kiedykolwiek opuściła mury naszej Wyższej Szkoły. Z zadowoleniem--bo to zasłużona klasa, która poprzez cały swój pobyt, dawała niekłamane dowody współpracy i poparcia szkolnych imprez. Z uznaniem dla mych poprzedników, zwłaszcza Księży Józefa Lempke, Ks. A. Polanowskiego i Ks. Prałata Grupy, za ich daleko-wzroczne plany, zamiary i chęci umożliwienia takiej poważnej gromady młodzieży, wyższego wykształcenia i wychowania, w duchu i tradycjach polsko-katolickich.

Jestem niepomiernie wdzięczny, że klasa z roku 1947 obrała sobie szczęśliwie dobrane hasło--ZWYCIĘSTWO Z MARYJĄ DLA JEZUSA. Przecież w tych tak przełomowych i krytycznych chwilach, kiedy całemu światu zagraża pożoga wojny--to zapowiedź ratunku i nadzieja pokoju. To też moi drodzy abituryenci, uzbrojeni w takie hasło, dajcie nam rękojmię, że zasad naszych nietylko nie zdradzicie--lecz owszem wśród społeczeństwa, w którym się znajdujecie, takowe zaszczepicie.

W niepewnych drogach, niech Maryja, będzie dla Was--Przewodnikiem; w słabościach--Siłą; w ciemnościach--Światłem; w napaściach--Tarczą; w smutkach —Pociechą; w burzach--Schronieniem; w wątpliwościach--Wiedzą w wahaniach--Podporą.

Niech zawsze będzie Waszą Radością, Nadzieją, Zbawieniem, Nagrodą Waszą.

Idźcie w świat w Imię Boże--pod możną opieką i troskliwą obroną--Maryji.

Wam oddany,

Our Priests are always with us to teach, advise, direct, and encourage us in our youthful days. They work hand in hand to inculcate into us those principles of right living which make for peace and harmony. They spare neither time nor talents to make our days enjoyable and fruitful. We, the class of 1947, are greatly indebted to each one of them and will hold their names in grateful memory for many a day.

Also we wish to acknowledge our debt to Sister M. Julia, our principal. Although it is only one year that Sister is holding that office in our school, we had an opportunity to recognize the qualities which make her such a capable leader—broadmindedness, foresight, and understanding of youth and its problems. We will miss visiting her office for solution of our problems and assuaging the pains of growing up.

For their contribution to this pattern of education for peace we honor them.

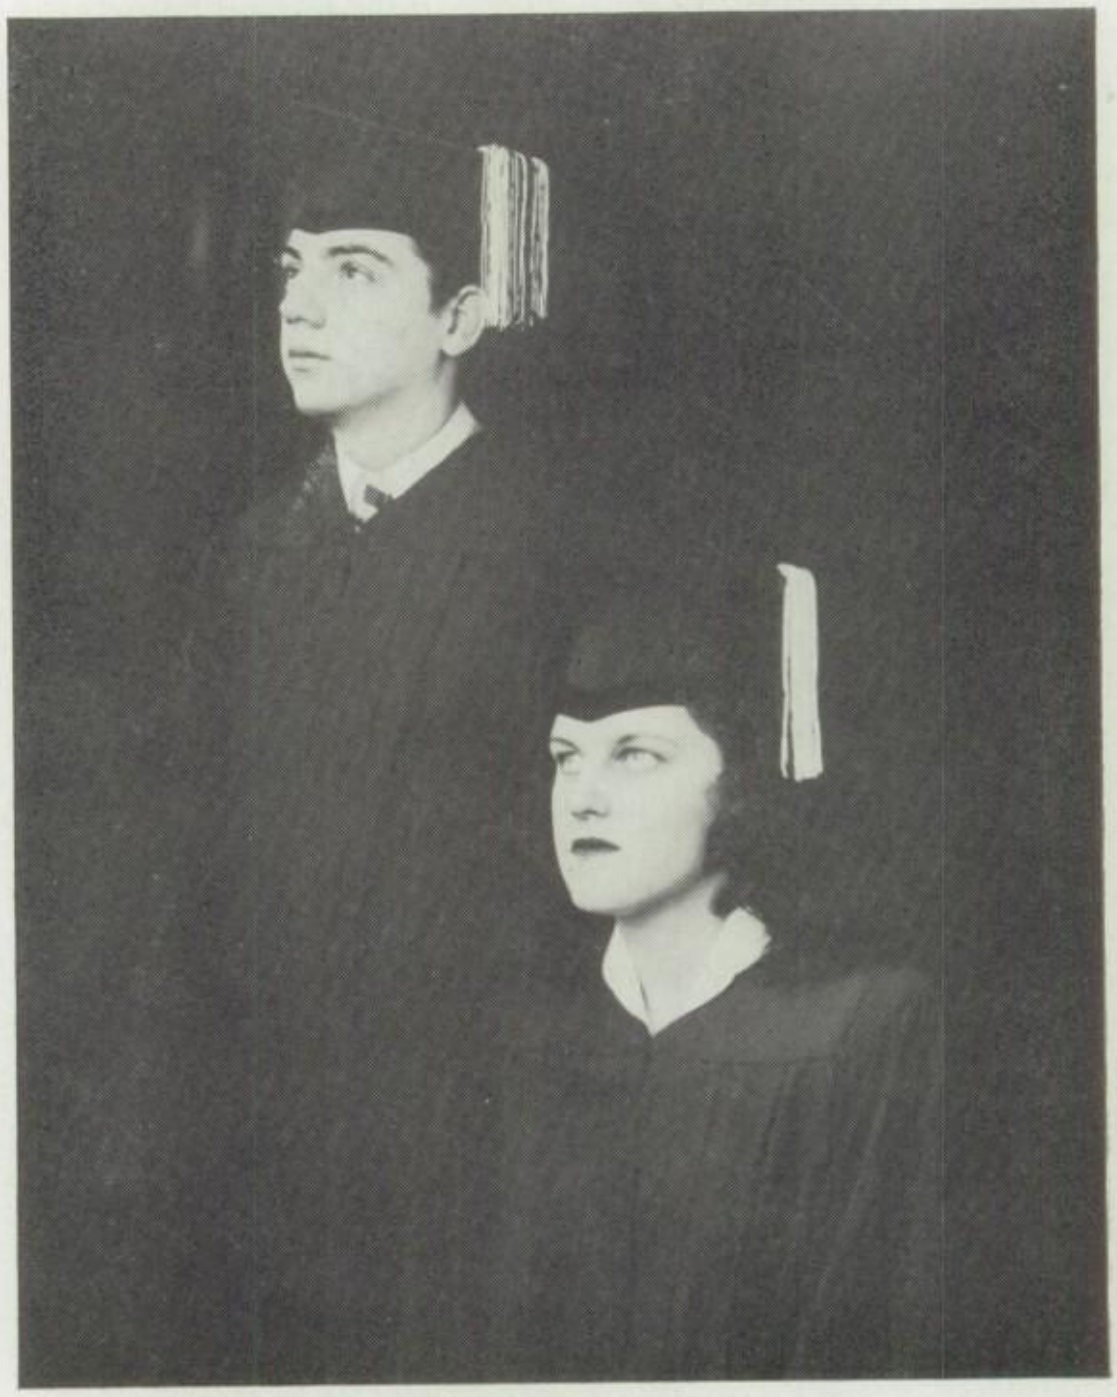
Looking Ahead to Brighter Future



Another class is going out into the world where there is much confusion, uncertainty and anxiety. Some say, "Youth of today is the hope of tomorrow" and appeal to it, "Youth, lead us on"; others call the modern youth "slap-happy" . . . "jive-crazy" . . . lazy . . . uncooperative and without an ounce of understanding or desire to acquire any. Now what is true?

Our attendance at social activities is high, but one notices that our attendance at religious services is just as high. During the war, millions of war bonds were sold by boys and girls, and thousands of boys answered the call of the country, many of whom are now lying overseas. We did stand the test.

Today, the world struggles in vain for peace; the men of state sit at peace tables and in vain make effort to draft certain patterns for peace; and we, the modern youth, are perplexed by the manner in which the leaders gamble at the price of the life of the world, having forgotten the elementary truths which we studied in our religion classes. We wonder how can man expect order and harmony when he fails to realize that this is God's world and God's world must be run by God's laws. There cannot be a brotherhood of nations without the acceptance of Fatherhood of God.

We had many opportunities to practice love and charity. The faculty tried to gap the bridge between theory and practice and taught us that to have peace in the world each one of us must be at peace first with God, secondly with himself and with his neighbor.

And now we go out into the world. Shall we be able to put into practice the truths we have been taught in school? We do hope to be able to build friendly human relations, to live a complete life, and help others to live the same life. God grant us our wish, we pray.

A Day

Our system of education recognizes individual differences and aims to prepare the boys and girls to go out into the world and do the work for which each one of them is best fitted—some to the common good by their scientific knowledge—others, clerically minded, to go into the business world, others to direct the world course as statesmen, and still others to do ordinary jobs as workers.

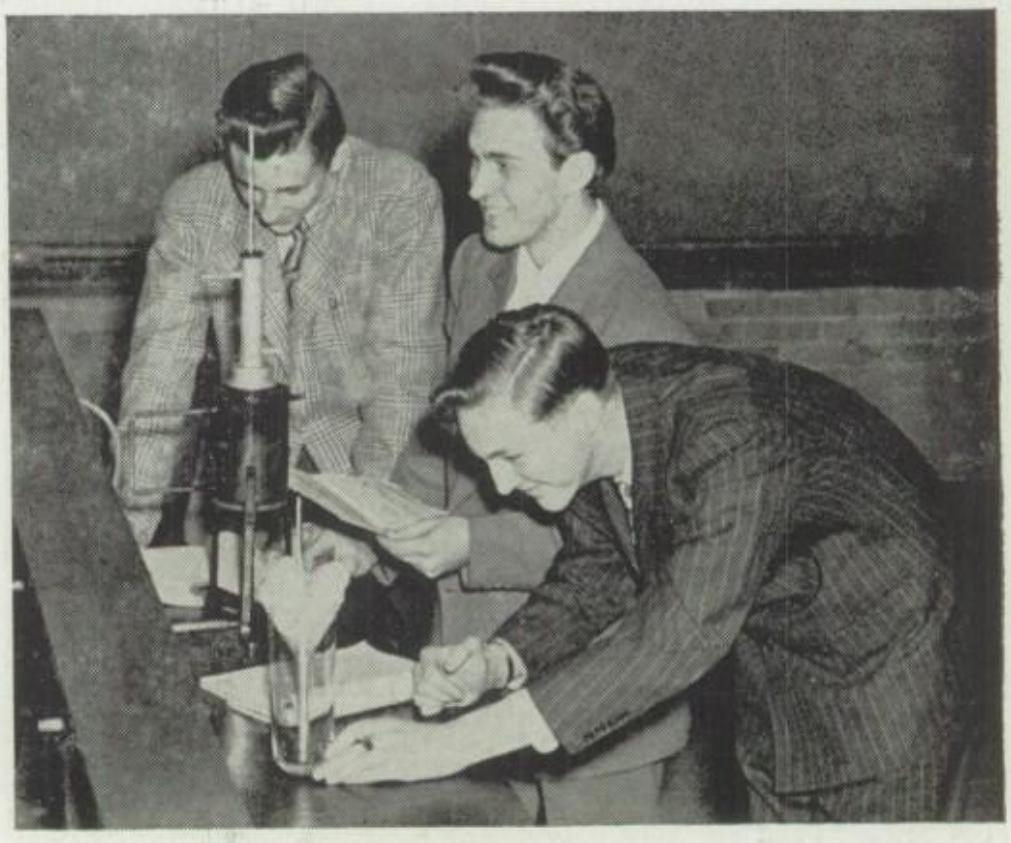
The world today is in need of truly educated men and women. It needs Catholic scientists who will unravel the mysteries of nature in fidelity to the principles of faith—for construction and not destruction.

1. Even a general study of history shows this group that it is a blessing to live in a land where man's God-given rights are safeguarded.

2. It is a scientific world and "the seniors give much time to the study of physics.

3. Solid geometry is by no means a stumbling block for the senior boys who revel in solving the intricacies of the subject.

4. Another group is very much pleased by the data in performing their experiments with steam and ice.



with Seniors

It is in need of honest leaders who will not be influenced by selfish motives and whose viewpoints will embrace the whole world. It is in need of home-makers, women who believe that marriage is a sacred institution and for no reason in the world will they break those bonds which join them forever, but will do their utmost to make their homes the closest resemblance to heaven we have on this side of the world.

In order that S. S. High may send out such individuals, religion permeates every subject and gives it unity and purpose, for only then will the boys and girls realize that they are parts of the Mystical Body of Christ—parts which have to live in harmony and work in mutual interdependence to attain the ultimate goal . . . eternal happiness.

1. Shorthand class . . . these girls certainly can be proud for they can take dictation at a high speed.

2. Fashion show . . . B. Plotzke, L. Gregorzewski, S. Rodzicak, C. Nowicka, J. Smoger, D. Gordon and L. Dziura model the garments they sewed.

3. A girl who learns to sew has a head start as a homemaker.

4. A parting gift . . . C. Kucharska, A. Krosnowski, E. Pastuszka, and J. Kraszewska watch T. Gawenda operate the comptometer purchased by Sr. Aurelia just before she left S. S. High.

BIOLOGY

S. S. High running with the trend is science-minded. The juniors devote themselves to the study of biology. Certainly they, unlike many modern scientists, must be convinced of the existence of the Master Biologist who created the heavens and earth and inhabited them with human, animal and plant life, for with all the advancement made in scientific fields tending to annihilate God's universe, no one can make a little flower or a blade of grass.

WONDERS OF NATURE—are discovered by these attentive biology scholars. They are amazed at the construction of a mere crayfish.

Many of us realize that Catholic Press is a sort of a Christopher upon whose broad shoulders the Christian world rests. Without the Catholic Press, the world would sag still further into the muck of paganism and modern idolatry, for it is only by promulgating the truth of Christianity that we can hope to keep this world a decent place in which to live. That is why great stress is placed in making the pupils know their Catholic books, magazines and pamphlets.

These pupils certainly are not victims of "spectatoritis" nor side-line sitters! They take active part in the discussion—they contribute and share and develop a spirit of cooperation and unity.

NATURAL SCIENCES

Happy the man whose lot it is to know
The secrets of the earth. He hastens not
To work his fellows' hurt by unjust deeds
But with rapt admiration contemplates
Immortal Nature's ageless harmony
And how and when her order came to be.
—Euripedes

These three class officers have made it a pleasant year for the Juniors of Room 103. Lipinski, president; D. Gac, secretary; and A. Cyplik, treasurer.

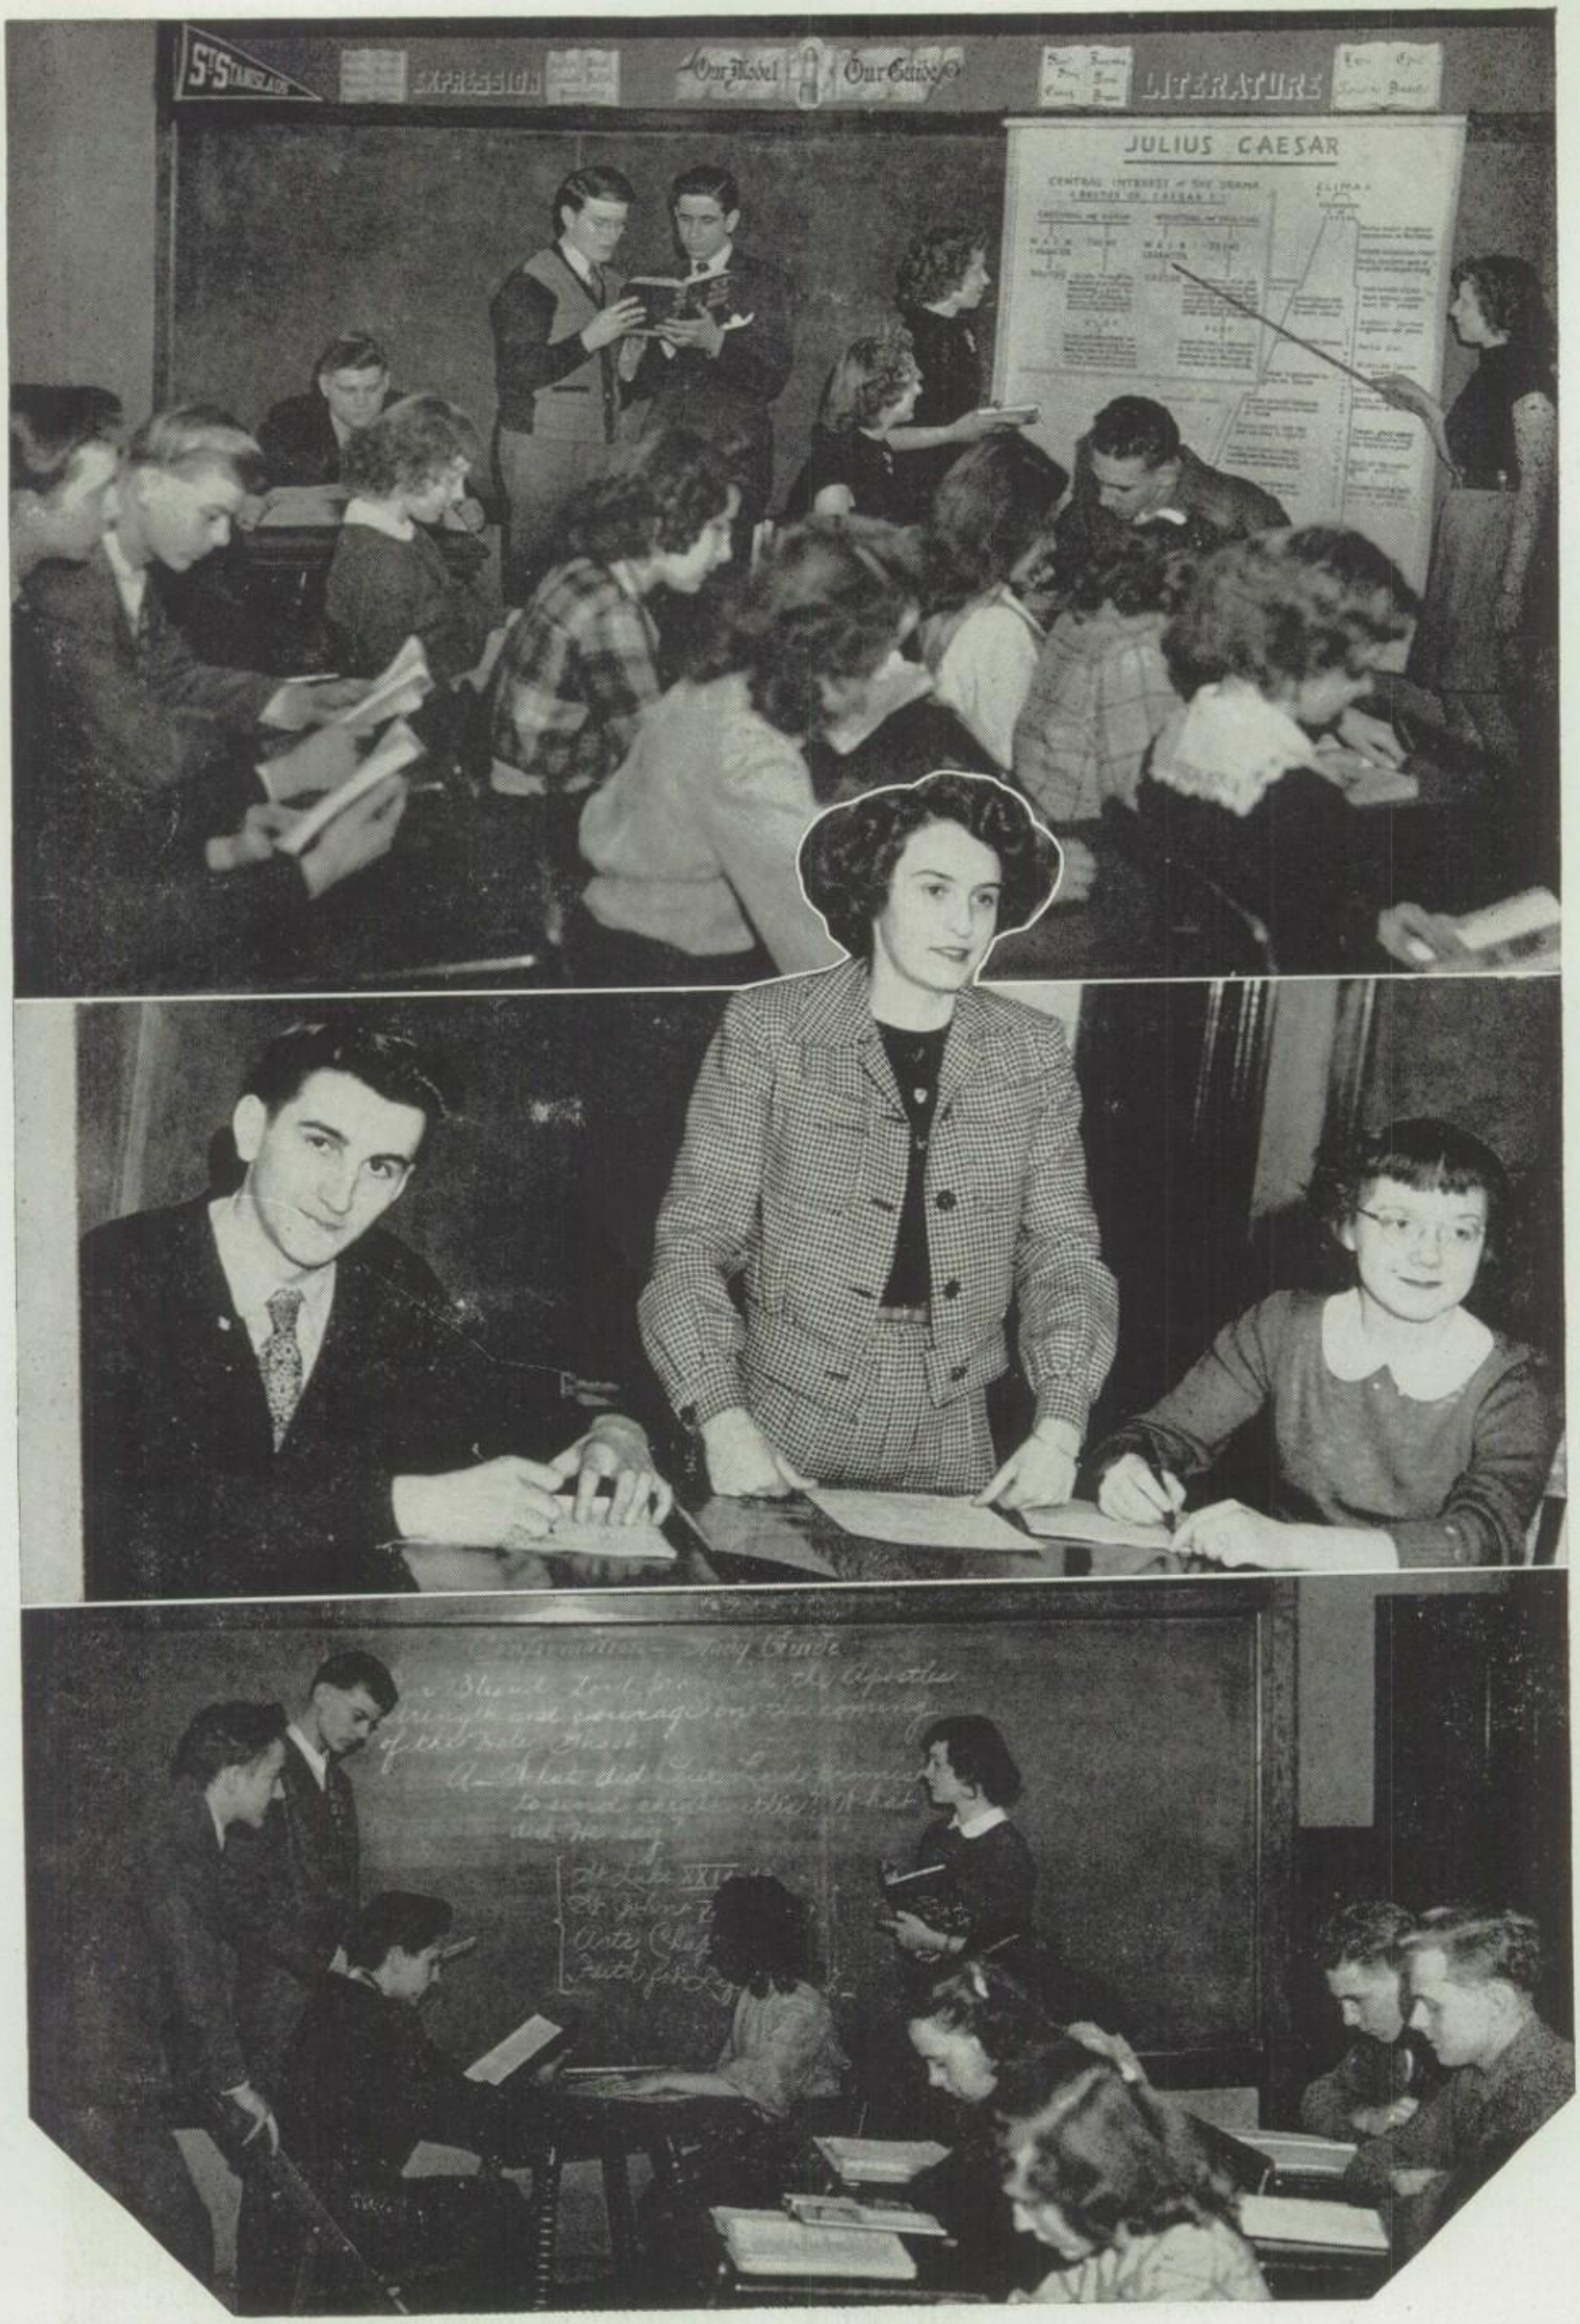
Interesting? . . . It must be judging by the attention H. Snytka receives when he examines the cross-section of a stem of a plant which has been magnified by the microprojector.



Down through the ages—the pupils marvel at the genius of Shakespeare. Here they read and study the tragedy of Caesar. Conducting their class is a position of which S. Kasprzyk, R. Klepaczyk, and J. Stawara are quite capable. A solid foundation for the future is laid by serious study of religion. Here the pupils learn that they are soldiers of Christ fortified by Sacrament of Confirmation.

BUSINESS SUBJECTS

Commercial subjects taught in our high school play an important part in the formation of a peaceful world. The typists, stenographers, and bookkeepers, who enter into economic affairs, partake of America's prosperity—a prosperity required to insure the world united freedom and peace.

The work of the future commercial experts will result in the unity of people—a feeling of brotherhood toward all mankind.

GO TO MASS!

Mass is the greatest act of our religion. There is no other way by which we could give greater glory to God or implore or thank Him for graces received. It is at Holy Mass that Our Lord distributes His precious gifts—growth in faith and hope and in the love of God and our neighbor. To know the Mass is to love it and hear it every day.

That is the reason for devoting time in religion classes to study the Mass step by step.

THE CATHOLIC WAY

The pupils at S. S. High realize the value of an education and tackle their studies with determination. At the very beginning they are made to understand that theirs will be a true and complete education which will take in this life and the next. The soul and body stressing the truth that human person is prior to any group to which he may belong by class, nation, or race. Daily they are reminded what their nature is and what is their destiny: To know God, to love Him and gain life eternal. Their trusts realize that the teachers with the help of God want to develop in them habits that are demanded for Christ-like living with others in our dear U.S.A. and in a peaceful United Nations.

Harmony of Purpose

Even a casual observer will note that there is harmony of purpose which regulates the life at S. S. High through the medium of what is called Student Council established on democratic principles.

The purpose of this organization is twofold: to train real leaders who are badly needed in this troubled world, and to form valuable habits in performing certain duties and responsibilities which tie up with the welfare of the individuals, and groups in and outside of school walls.

In presiding over groups those who were chosen as leaders have a chance to prove their mettle. They must stand by convictions even though they are unpopular. They must learn to surmount difficulties, to meet personal disappointments without losing poise and confidence.

The members of the student council must give more of themselves for the good of others. They must learn to perform their duties and sacrifice many a pleasure and interest in order to contribute to the satisfaction or happiness of their fellow students.

Moreover, the activities of the student council extend beyond the walls of the school. They know the danger that "'consciousness of the kind" plays in the world today; and, therefore, to develop the spirit of brotherhood, there are departments in the Student Council which develop real humanitarians in bringing help to those who need it, and their sympathies are not limited by social position, distance, nationality or race.

Peace on Earth . . . the Christmas Message

Through the Christmas season they often visit the crib and offer their gifts of song in thanksgiving for the graces received and beg the Prince of Peace to grant peace again to this troubled world.
It is a tradition at S. S. High for the Choral Group to sing Christmas Carols before Midnight Mass. As their voices blend, singing carols, the faithful carry themselves in thought to that Holy Night when Christ was born and the angels sang adoring their God and Creator. Just about 11:40 the processional begins, and the girls solemnly walk down the aisle and take their places before the altar.

United for Action and

It is the purpose of the Student Council to develop the leaders--true leaders, bold leaders who will carry out their purpose in spite of unjust opposition—leaders who will keep their promises, say what they mean and not engage in flowery wordage—leaders who will follow high Christian standards in all their dealings—leaders whose view-points will embrace the whole world, the whole brotherhood of men.

The Student Council for 1946-1947 gave evidence throughout the year that they have some of these qualities so necessary in fulfilling their obligations to God and man. We have high hopes that they will go out and meet today's world and conquer it for peace and harmony.

The head of this group for 1946-1947 was V. Konstantynowicz, who was ably assisted by W. Rutkowski, Secretary, and C. Grzeskowiak, Treasurer, and the following heads of the respective departments:

Enjoyment

The whole student body waits with eagerness to our monthly assemblies, for it is at those assemblies that they realize that they all are one in purpose and action. The student council gives a report of the accomplishments during the past month and the plans for the ensuing month; then, a special program under the auspices of some department follows.

The first department to give a program this year was the Mission Department. It featured "Red Skins and the Blackrobe," the story of St. Issac Joques, and His Companions in honor of the tercentenary of the martyrdom of the Jesuit Missionaries.

In November, the Library Department took the floor and challenged the whole student body to a game called "Readо".

"Loyalty to the Flag and Cross" was a skit presented by the Holy Name Department. The theme of this number was struggle against Communism.

Since February is the month of the Catholic Press, the Publication Department summarized in song and play the function of the Catholic Press, stressing the fact that the Catholic education begins and the Catholic Press extends and deepens our appreciation of the true religion. "To read Catholic literature is to keep up with the mind of Christ," was the keynote of the skit.

The special program for March was in the hands of the Polish Department, which gave us the story of the Polish Flags and a brief skit portraying people from different walks of life praying for the restoration of Poland.

THE SODALITY DEPARTMENT

There will be no Victory unless it will come through Mary. It is through Mary alone that peace can be restored in the heart of individuals, families, nations, and the world. The events of the United States in World War II tie up closely with the Blessed Virgin . . . and so does the world peace.

One only needs to read the story of the Apparition of Our Lady of Fatima to realize that Our Lady will triumph over godlessness if the world turns to Her, and through Her—to Her Son. That is why the sodalists pledged themselves to foster devotion to Blessed Virgin and imitate Her purity and innocence and become apostles of harmony and love.

A LEGION OF MARY . . .

The Holy Name Department

The Holy Name and Sodality Departments are mainly spiritual organizations which have to do with personal sanctification.

The cry this year in the archdiocese was "More Men for Christ." When there will be more boys for Christ, there will also be more men. When there will be men who will reflect Christ in their lives, the world will be on the right road to peace.

In the Holy Name Department the members learned to work in harmony with each other by their unity of purpose, motivated by their love of God and neighbor.

They hold meetings monthly, where they encourage each other to greater reverence for the name of Jesus, and Rev. Father W. Jasionowicz addressed them regularly, offering suggestions for promotion of the spirit of unity and brotherhood.

MORE STAMPS . . . is the cry of the Mission Department. Sorting and mailing Stamps is the major problem of the Mission Department.

The MISSION, RED CROSS, POLISH DEPARTMENT and Traffic departments work in harmony toward a fundamentally and vitally important achievement: teaching by precept and action —that peace and understanding are our best protection against all weapons and that they make all men realize their common sonship and brotherhood under the Fatherhood of God.

CIVIC DEPARTMENT puts into practice the golden rule. It exists to keep order on the corridor. Through this department the students learn cooperation and respect for rules and regulations which are so necessary for community life.

ORDER PLEASE . . . These are the boys who work to make our corridors silent.

Truly a Pattern for Peace

Just as the RED CROSS DEPARTMENT knows no bounds but tends to alleviate suffering wherever it is found, so the Mission Department helps to carry the true faith into the farthest corner of the earth. There is no discrimination because of race or color.

HARD WORKERS . . . The Red Cross is making packages for all sufferers of the war, especially children, the aged, and the sick.

FOR THE TOTS . . . The Polish Department is preparing bundles small, medium and large, filled with toys, clothes and paper, donated by the sympathetic students of S. S. High. These boxes will be sent to the unfortunate in Poland.

HARMONY OF PURPOSE

The Library Department

Postal Service . . .

Every year, during the Christmas season, the Library serves as a post office. It sponsors a yearly popularity contest which causes quite a bit of hustling and bustling in the library.

The result of the poll indicates the following as most popular in their respective classes:

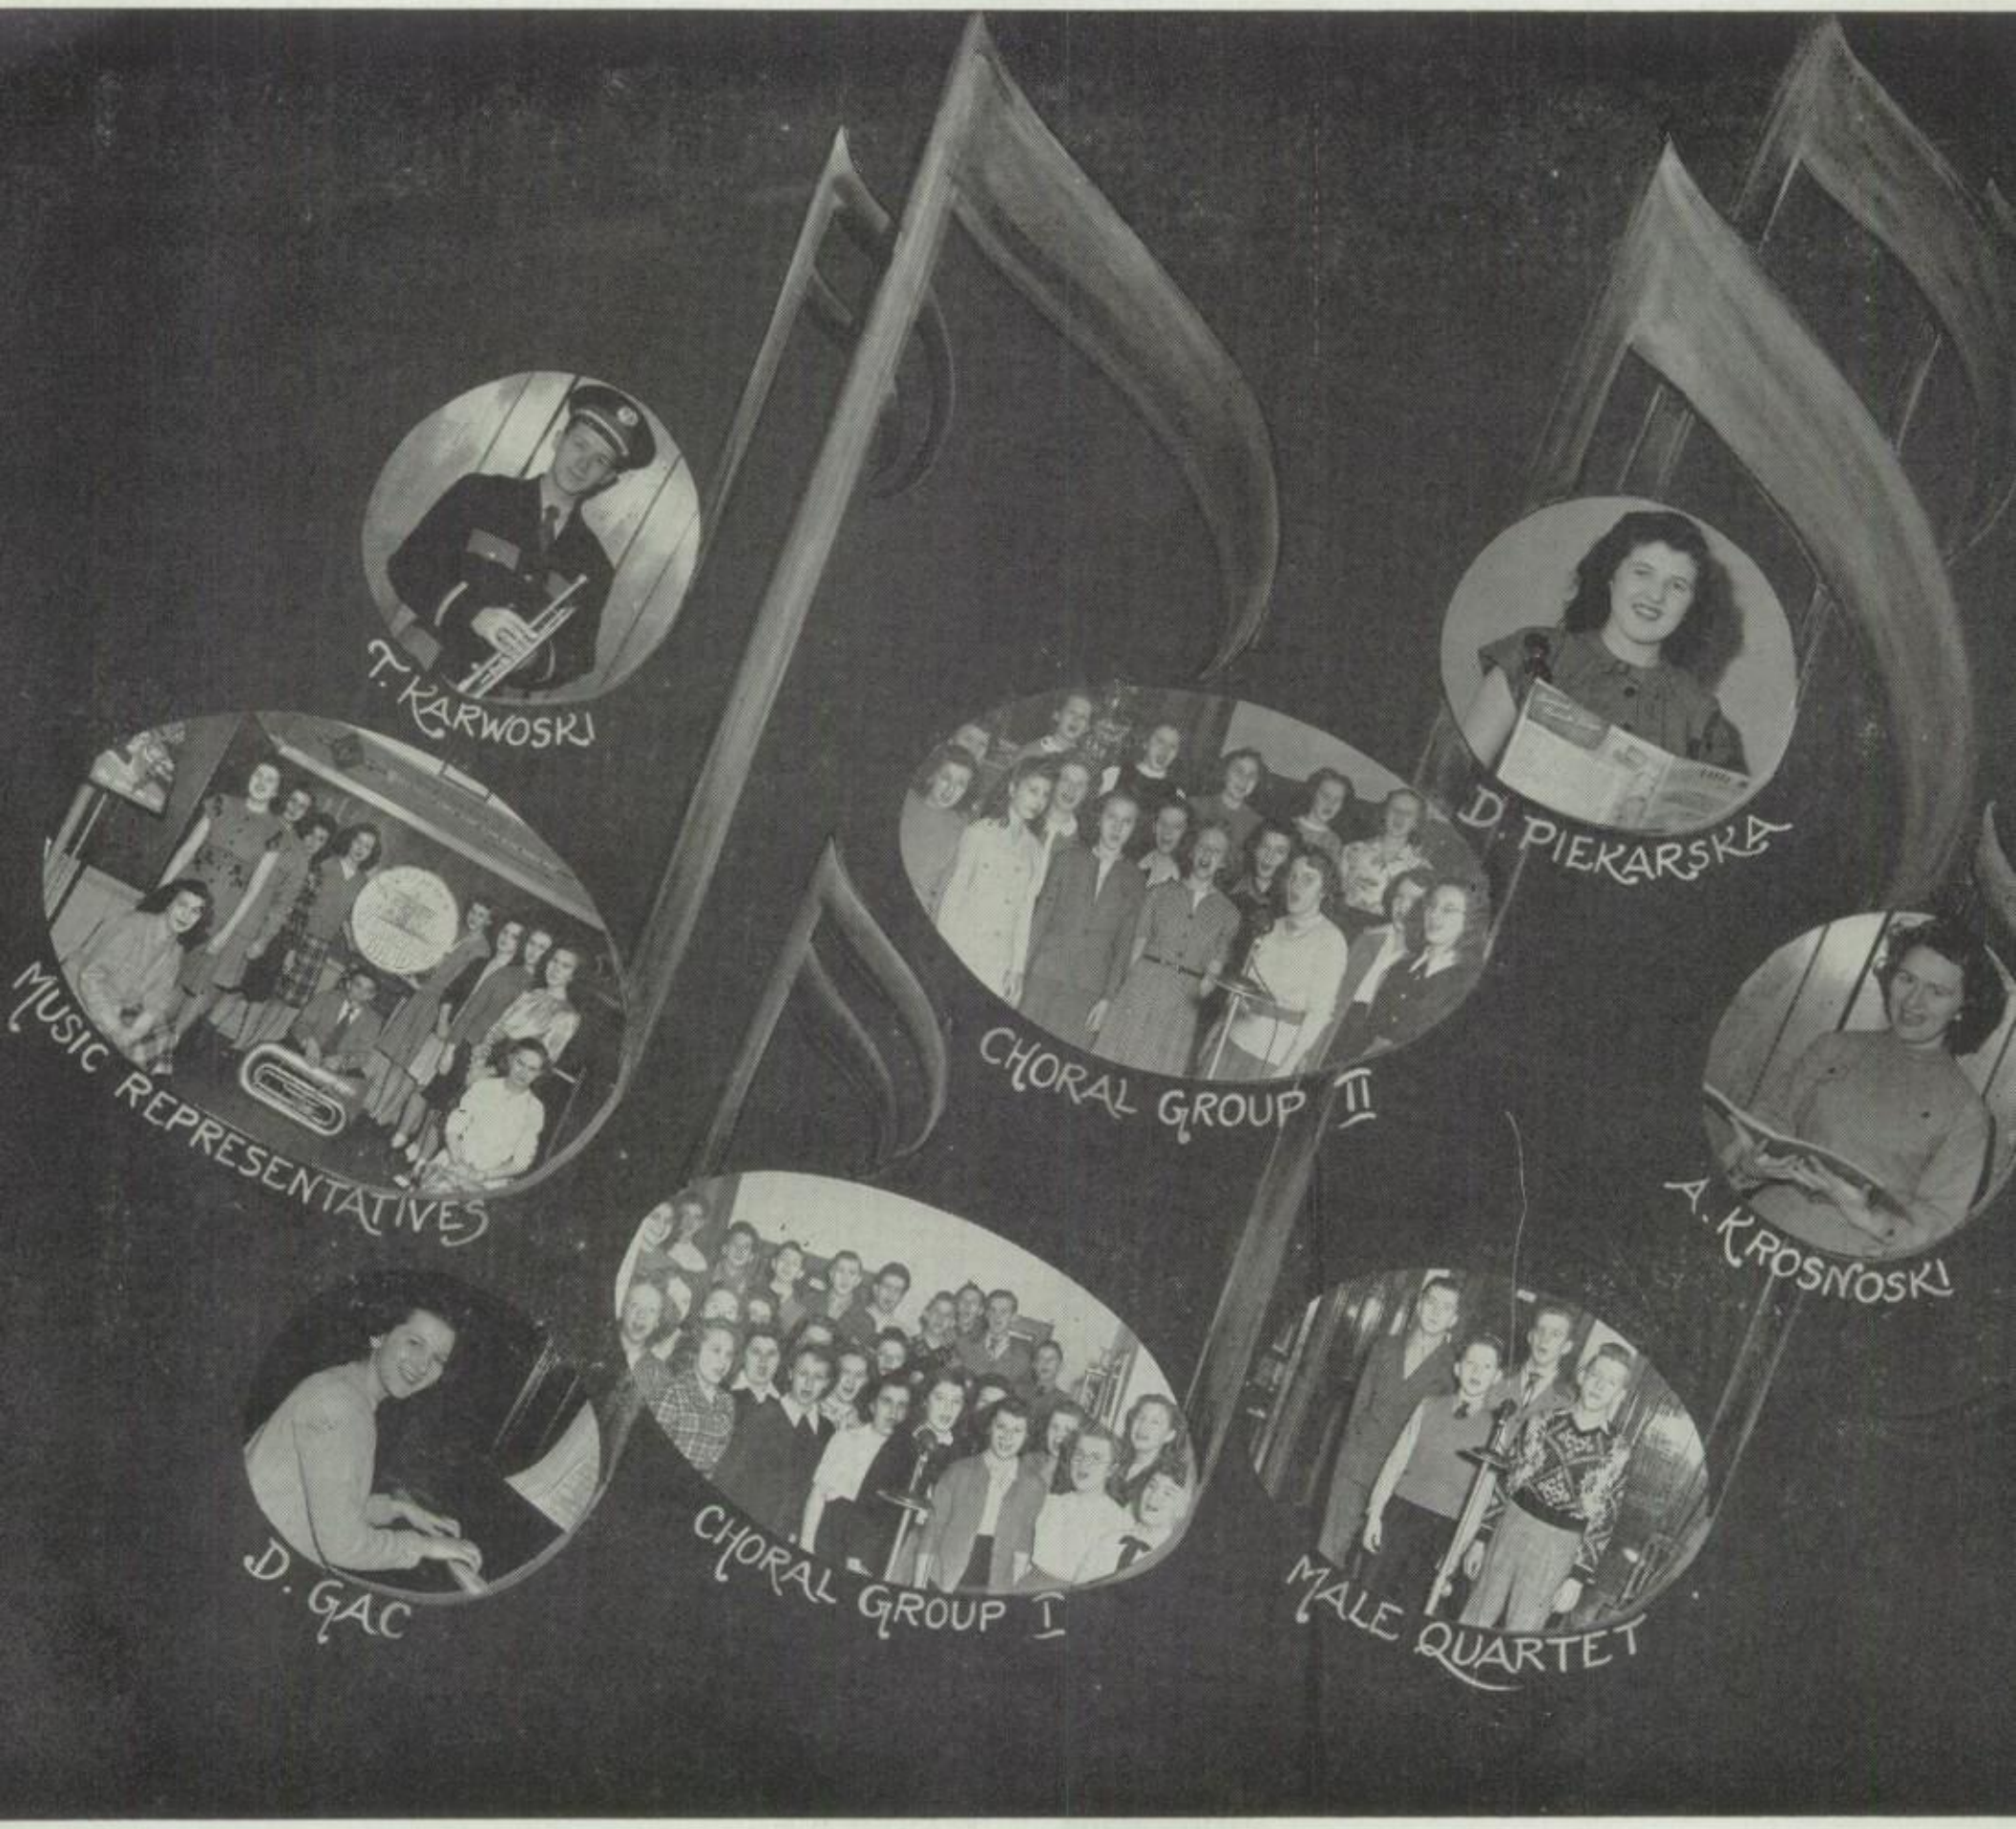
Cozy Nook . . .

To add to the cheery atmosphere of the library, the librarians "dress" it up according to season. Here's something to add Christmas cheer.

November—Catholic Book Week. The Freshmen girls are getting acquainted with some Catholic authors.



The Music Department

Music unifies the students for united action. It helps them to realize the importance of cooperation and harmony. When groups of young people get together there is plenty of music —religious, classical, and popular.

It is the work of the Music Department to provide music for all occasions—formal and informal. The choral groups through the P.A. system were singing carols during the Christmas season. T. Karwoski is the trumpeter who intends to make use of his talent in the future. D Gac is our renowned pianist. D. Piekarska and A. Krosnowski are the senior soloists who entertained us at the assembly by their golden voices.

These Librarians, L. Witanska, J. Horiska, G. Stempin, M. Kwiatkowski, C. Glazewska, B. Leszczynska, L. Makowska, M. Mantyk, work earnestly to meet the deadline.

THE STAFF AT WORK

The Library Department is really an important department in our school. Not only does this office help the students to draw books, but it also takes an active part in inducing them to reap fruit from wholesome reading.

And so through the year, the library department prepares posters, gives reviews for guidance to readers and serves in every other way to develop the right reading habits.

ARTISTIC TOUCH TO THE STAN-EM . . . contributed by M. Nosal, J. Wasko, and L. Lewandowska.

THE STAN-EM STAFF

The seniors wrote another book of memories which will be read and read in the years to come. They wanted to fill it with memories that are almost indelible in their hearts and minds . . . everything that went into making S. S. High what it is . . . the building, the classrooms, the people, the traditions, and standards. This is the largest class to graduate in years, hence, the largest yearbook published to date.

The staff hopes that this yearbook will not only serve as a record but also as an incentive or inspiration towards high and noble living. For in these pages the reader will find what S. S. High contributes towards building a peaceful world — the complete education with opportunities for moral, intellectual, social and physical development. When, therefore, circumstances and difficulties weaken some of the enthusiasm and youthful zeal in this struggle for brotherhood, under the Fatherhood of God, may these pages serve as a spur and encouragement to go on and carry high the banner of human progress.

MORE CONVENTIONS . . . After the adventurous Milwaukee convention, another was sponsored by Wayne University. At this convention, the publication department was represented by J. Zimny, B. Danielewski, C. Nowicki, A. Krosnowski, R. Ciuzicki, M. Tomaszewski, D. Wojciechowski, C. Wojciechowski, S. Rudowski, and V. Guzman.

In May, twelve members attended the press conference sponsored by the "Detroit Free Press" daily paper, at Rackham Institute.

The staff certainly got around to exchange ideas, that is, to give and take in order to develop the journalistic tendencies in themselves.

The Eaglet

The Publication Department does its share in developing the feeling of oneness. It teaches to work together and to utilize all resources and all talents needed to finish a job. This year Eaglet was published in rotation by the three senior groups, alternating every month. At the head were Jo Zimny of Room 105, Wanda Rutkowski of Room 106. and Sylvia Mrozowski of Room 108. This arrangement called for a bit of competition and as a result the editions were improving with every month.

"Look out Milwaukee! Here we come" . . . That was the cry of 1,500 newspaper and yearbook staff members from all over the U. S. who were on their way there for the National Scholastic Press Association Convention. In this group were four starry-eyed S. S. Hi students, Wanda Rutkowski, Jo Zimny, Syl Mrozowski, and Betty Danielewski, chaperoned by their advisor, Sister Mary Raynelda.

We see them browsing through All American Annuals which were on exhibit and on the second picture they are entering their rooms in Hotel Schroeder, Milwaukee

MIMEO MEN AT WORK . . . rushing the last pages of the Eaglet are J. Zimny, T. Rychwalska, E. Niedbala, and E. Lewandowski. That was a familiar scene every month —a lot of rustle and hustle to meet the deadline.

ALL AGAINST ONE . . . with such united action the world should fight the common enemy — communism, which threatens everything that American Youth holds precious.

LOOK AT THE INDIANS! . . . a scene from the skit "Red Skins and the Black Robe." The boys, mostly mission representatives are the red skins, and the girls are the squaws. They even have a papoose. V. Konstantynowicz played the role of St. Isaac Jogues.

THE BAND made its first appearance under the new bandmaster, Mr. S. Teachout.

Down through the ages, the Catholic missionaries felt and believed that they had no right to hide the light of faith while millions of souls were groping in the darkness. Dramatization of lives of those missionaries who left everything to fulfill God's commandment "Go forth and teach all nations" emphasizes the divine truth that all our people are children of God and dear to Him, for they have been redeemed by the supreme price—His death. Father Isaac Joques and his companions gladly paid the same price to bring souls to the true faith and the Fatherhood of God.

IN TRADITIONAL POLISH GARB . . . these dancers proved they had some of their ancestors' spirit.

DRESSED IN RED AND WHITE . . . the sophomore ensemble related the history of the Polish Flags which saw the battles at Tombruch, Narvick, Monte Cassina, and Warsaw.

L. Kosciolek certainly knows her Catholic Authors . . . she won the first prize in the contest held by the library department in which the whole school participated.

Where shall we seek light? What should we do? The answer is simple—good wholesome reading of Catholic books. Most of us are aware of the important role that the Catholic Press plays in the world of today.

Here in school our teachers keep us posted on Catholic books, purchase books, and encourage and demand that we read them. The library department prepares exhibits, and our publication department keep us informed. All efforts are made

The Catholic Press

There is so much confusion in this world for a young, inexperienced mind. Coordination of Activities

The extra-curricular activities, or as some say, the intra-curricular activities, are also organized with a definite purpose to contribute to a fuller life of every individual. We group them into two divisions, the physical and the social.

The physical outlet is provided by athletics. The program is quite extensive—basketball for girls and boys, football and baseball—contributing to the development of body and mind. Certainly athletics has much to give towards harmonious living, for it takes everything that a man has to lose a victory and cheer the victors.

It is at the games that we form friendships and learn to value people for their worth and ability. It is on the floor that members of the team test the strength of unity when they all pull together for a common cause.

For social development there are numerous opportunities—dances, skating parties, other get-togethers at the Stan-Teen Club, the school auditorium, or at the homes of the individuals. That's where links of friendship are cemented. There really must be something wrong with an individual who has not formed any lasting friendships with his fellow students or faculty during his school days.

The extra-curricular activities, therefore, are means of developing world citizens who will know the importance of mutual interdependence, who will believe that all people have the same source of dignity; and, therefore, all should be respected, even when they differ in culture, creed or race.

COORDINATION OF ACTIVITIES

Behind the Team

There is much that goes into the games which has nothing to do with the handling of the ball. Posters must be made announcing the time and place of the game. Workers must be on hand to collect and distribute tickets and promote sales. Through the year L. Dziura, D. Bielinska and S. Pasko kept the student body posted on the schedules of the games. D. Gordon and D. Hiller did their share of canvassing workers for the home games.

Performing the duties of keeping books, arranging transportation, controlling contracts, the unseen men of the athletic office under the supervision of Rev. A .Nieckarz were kept busy. The athletic representative, M. Mergless, covered the games and led the pep rallies. L. Grzegorzewska did the same for the girls' team. P. Kwiatkowski and M. Cyplik cared for the equipment before, during and after the game. The co-captains, S. Nokielski and G. Gondek, kept their fingers on the pulse of the team that everything would be running smoothly.

Athletics in school teaches some to assume responsibility and others cooperate and work together in harmony.

Kokowicz, D. Trzaskalski, T. Michalak. Third row: J. Pietrzkiewicz, G. Rutkowski, L. Magreta, M. Mergless, C. Nowicki, B. Jakubik.

These athletic representatives were busy throughout the year—first in promoting the sale of tickets for football, then in keeping the accounts of the Patrons in the Annual Athletic Drive. Those really were the unsung heroes who worked hard to promote the welfare of the team and the interest of the school.

Rev. Vincent Borkowicz presents a plaque to Delphine Piekarski, who for the third successive year led the students in the Patron Drive. Her zeal and loyalty to our school is a "target" at which other students can shoot in the future years. Her returns this last year amounted to $170.00.

Debut on the Gridiron

With one year of experience to its credit the St. Stanislaus aggregation headed by sixteen returning veterans from last year's grueling season, began what is to be marked in the memoirs of St. Stanislaus Sports as an important year, for it saw the origin of competitive football in actual league play.

The Broncos were scheduled to meet each of the seven teams once, with the opener on September 30. Immediate practice sessions, therefore, ensued, with blocking and passing stressed. Injuries hampered body contact practices, so instructive sessions in the "lab" were numerous.

A not entirely unprepared team met the formidable De La Salle eleven. The Broncos fought valiantly, but faltered on two occasions, allowing the Purple and Gold to cross our unprotected goal line. Penalties halted the Broncos' progress while deep in Pilot territory, and the game ended with a score of 12 to 0 in De La Salle's favor.

As the season progressed, the play of the Broncos improved and on numerous occasions a fighting spirit was so evident that the opposing coaches and players could not help but praise the Broncos' efforts.

The St. Benedict game, which saw every recruit in action, brought an end to the football season favorably, for the Broncos easily defeated their foe by the score of 19 to 6.

While the season's record is not too impressive, it is one which many local schools in the past would have wished to attain.

Another season has ended, leaving the Broncos in fourth place with a .500 average, having lost six and won six games.

The lack of height was a serious set-back in the Catholic Central, St. Joseph, and Orchard Lake contests. Orchard Lake proved to be a tough opponent on their own court, defeating the Broncos by a score of 41 to 19. The Broncos, however, evened the score at our gym, squeezing out a victory over the Eagles by a score of 34-31.

At the St. Stanislaus gym the most exciting game was with the Catholic Central, defending champions of the 45-46 season. The Broncos were the underdogs, but though they were trailing the Shamrocks they did give them a fight now and then when the difference in scoring was just 2 or 3 points. In the last few minutes of the game Catholic Central surged ahead to gain a 32-35 victory.

To St. Joe's, the 46-47 champs, the Broncos lost both contests, although scores were very close. At their court the Bluejays won by a score of 41 to 36. The Broncos' inability to shoot their foul shots, since they made only one out of 15, lost the game with the score of 32-27.

Though the Broncos wound up in fourth place, they provided the fans with many thrills. The boys played with all the heart and spirit they could muster; however, the opposition proved too tough for Broncos to reap any outstanding laurels in the 1946-1947 season.

The Varsity vs. Alumni

S. Litwinowicz really jumped during the Varsity-Alumni Game.

The Varsity Nite affair is a tradition at S. S. High. It is the night when alumni meet and become acquainted with the students during a night of excitement, thrills and fun. The evening begins with a basketball game between the two Varsity Squads and the Alumni and Alumnae, respectively. Through the huge auditorium, the loud cries of Stanislasians are echoed, cheering their boys to victory. On the opposite side are the somewhat fainter yells of the Alumni and Alumnae also carrying hearty hope and cheer for their teams. Soon the atmosphere changes and the crowds are not separated any longer. The lights are dimmed, soft music begins and, whatever the results of the exciting games were, everyone dances and reminisces over the school days.

With greatest of ease— so it seems the Flyer throws the ball into the basket at the St. Andrew non-league game played in our gym.

The Senior Quintet

Five members who were largely responsible for the victories garnered by the Broncos are pictured below. These boys have just finished playing their last year of basketball for old S. S . High.

STEVE NOKIELSKI, one of the co-captains of the team, has been with the Broncos for a number of years. His hard-driving and fast dribbling always kept the team in the game. He was often referred to as the spark-plug of the team.

The other co-captain, GEORGE GONDEK, seemed to be just the man to fill in the other guard spot along side Steve. His fine passes and quick-thinking often set up many plays that led to field goals.

CASEY GRZESKOWIAK, the first team forward, was a very shifty and deceptive player, and also a good passer. His keen eye and a good right arm many times made him the top scorer of the game.

HENRY ZAGLANICZNY playing alongside Casey, did not take many shots at the basket, but when he did, two points were always added to our score. He was regarded as the best set-shot on the team.

The center-spot was held by HARRY GOMULA, whose height always made him a threat. Although he did not see much action, he played vigorously and whole-heartedly whenever he had the opportunity.

The team of next year is going to miss these boys for their friendly spirit and co-operation with all the members of the team.

RESERVES

During the basketball season the Reserves encountered twelve teams, winning nine and losing only three games. Their excellent training and constant practice paid good dividends.

Their greatest triumph was their defeat of the Catholic Central five, who for a number of years were rated "undefeated."

With the experience they have received as Reserves they will be ready to fill the vacant places on the Varsity made by the graduating seniors.

Andy is always on hand to see that transportation is provided members of the team as they go to meet the opposing ms.

Behind the team there are also important people known as sco and time-keepers—Skiba, Dombrowski, and Wassin. We cann forget those fans who cheer the team on to victory.

Red, White, Fight! Fight!

The excitement at all the games was accentuated by the red and white uniforms of our cheerleaders, who contributed their share to victory by supplying the moral support in terms of cheers and songs. The Broncos and Bronco-eds were encouraged by these leaders whose wholehearted efforts spurred the team on to victory.

Their fine leadership kept the spirits of the rooters high. Since none of the members of the squad are leaving us, new cheering plans are in progress.

Because so many girls went out to practice for the try outs, two squads were formed and many more lasses had the privilege of cheering the teams to victory.

The underclassmen, who served as "raw-men", and who were prominent in displaying their vocal talent were: Standing—C. Grabowska, R. Pietrzkiewicz, N. Moskwa, A. Jozwiak, D. Detloff, H. Swiencinska, and C. Glozewski. Kneeling, the veterans—S. Wyszynska, M. Szynkowska, P. Wesolowska, M. Bruszewska, T. Staskowska, R. Klepaczyk, D. Adamczyk, M. Konopka, P. Maciejewska; and the two boys are R. Helminiak and A. Cyplik.

Champs—Our Dreams Come True!

A typical S. S. Hi Lassie's schedule is full of important events from September until June. Neither January's icy blasts nor April's misty rains halt her enthusiasm for the various activities. She is a true athlete in every sense of the word; she accepts a defeat as readily as she accepts a victory.

The past season has been extremely successful for the Bronco-eds. The alumnae were the first victims of the cagerettes, for they won championship in two leagues.

In the C. Y. O. the girls have an enviable record of eight victories, one tie, and one defeat. The splendid record made the team eligible for the City Championship, where a loss of two games automatically eliminated a team. The Bronco-eds won their first three games from St. Gregory, Dominican, and Annunciation with ease. Nativity—the nemesis of the season—brought the first defeat. The team played the remaining contests under pressure but with determination to win. In a return bout the Nativity team was overpowered and the Bronco-eds entered the finals. Annunciation proved to be tough opposition, but the S. S. Hi Sextet triumphed and brought another trophy to the already filled case.

In the Varsity league they only had one loss to Nativity and, therefore, were tied for championship.

Coach F. Watta, A. Kuplicki, S. Nawrocka, G. Detloff, M. Wojiechwoska, M. Adamczyk, J. Wasko, G. Jozwiak, J. Olechowska.

GIRL RESERVES

The reserves do not need any encouragement to keep up the good work. The good example of the graduating seniors will spur them on and continual practice will bring them a championship too. There is very much basketball talent in every one of our reserves, as it was revealed in the fact that they won all the games in the Varsity League.

Mrs. F. Watta shows the girls just how to jump off the ball.

PRAYER IN BASKETBALL . . . is just as important as teamwork. The girls who pray together can play together.

1. TIME OUT . . . the girls refresh themselves and eat so oranges, while the time keepers, A. Tomkowiak, B. Danielew and D. Szczepanska, check the score.

Third row: Property Mgr. M. Cyplik, G. Wojciechowski, G. Brzezinski, L. Gossman, H. Gomula, Prop. Mgr. P. Kwiatkowski. Mascot: W. Bukowski, Jr.

The Broncos on the Diamond

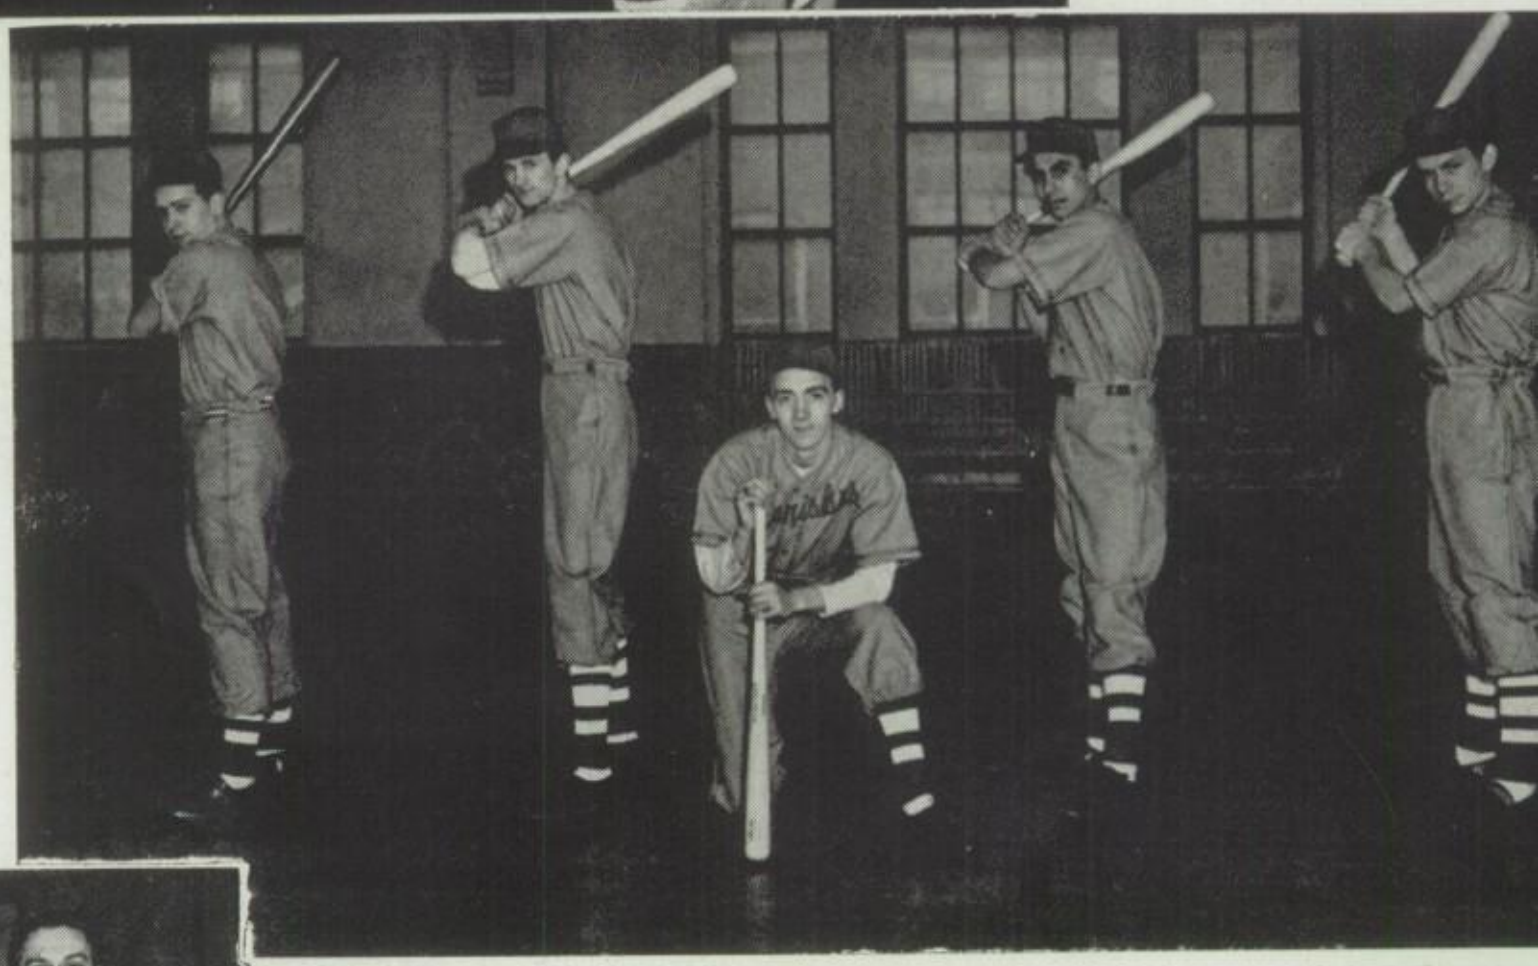
The Broncos venture into their third year of baseball with nine veterans returning. They should accomplish something.

The Broncos are scheduled to meet Orchard Lake away for their first game and then will encounter Catholic Central, St. Ladislaus, De La Salle, St. Anthony, and St. Catherine, respectively.

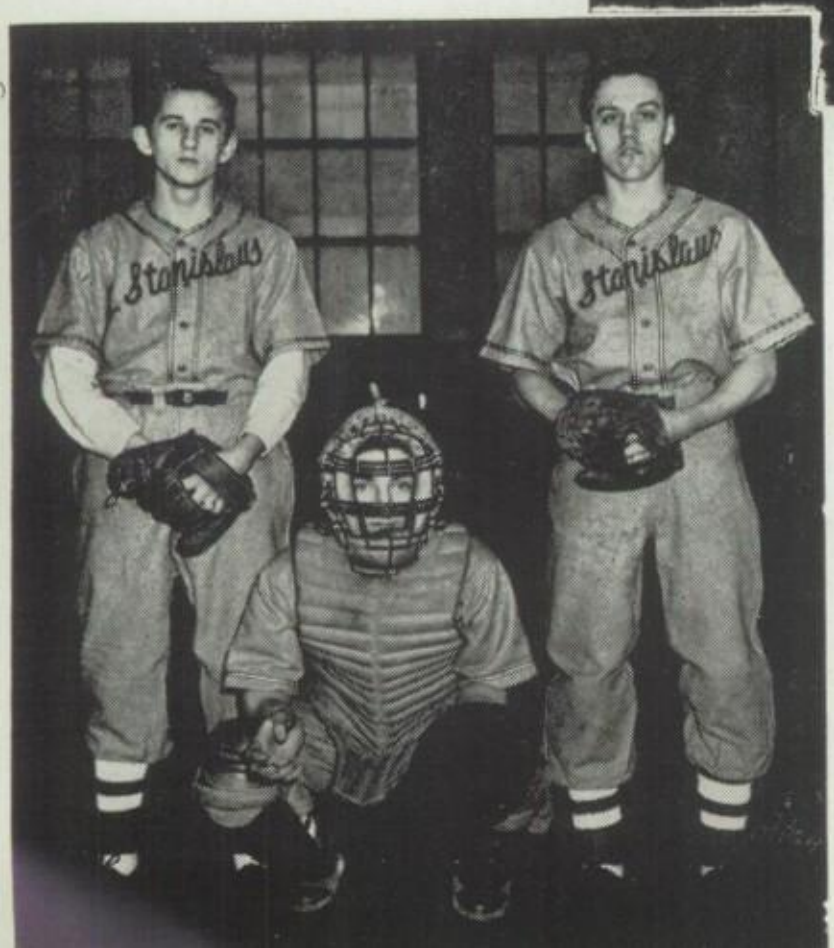
The Broncos are respected throughout the league for they are an improved and seasoned ball club. Their hopes are high for a championship this year and if the hitting improves their hopes may be realized.

As the Broncos take the field they will probably line up in this way: V. Guzman, 1-B.; S. Nokielski, 2-B.; N. Wassin, 3-B.; M. Mergless, S.S.; F. Tadrzynski, G. Brzezinski, H. Przekora, and K. Jurek will be roaming in the green, with able assistance from L. Gossman, C. Jewiarz, and R. Szydlowski. H. Zaglaniczny and C. Grzeskowiak will do the pitching chores, with W. Ciupka and R. Miekosz on the receiving end. The team certainly reads good; so here's hoping for a winning season.

A SESSION . . . The team i getting some helpful sugges tions and advice from thei Coach, "Freckles" Butkowski a veteran of many season and a man of wide experi ence, gained through the ac tual participation in th games. Having begun with group of raw recruits, h molded them into a polishe team which is a challenge t some of the teams in th city.



THE SLUGGER'S ROW . . . A group of fine Sluggers— H. Przekora, G. Brzezinski, M. Mergless, V. Guzman, N. Wassin, who certainly are a challenge to the opposing teams as they appear in the Broncos' line-up.



HURLING STAFF . . . . . Henry Zaglaniczny and Casey Grzeskowiak, two star pitchers—our future Bob Fellers, Hal Newhousers, and Paul Trouts. They certainly have what it takes to make good pitchers. In the one game of the season, which was played before the annual went to print, Henry struck out ten players and gave only two hits. Casey is just as good.

Steve is a good catcher—all three are assets and with the cooperation of the rest of the team we should have a successful season.

Good-bye Now

When we pass through these portals to the future, they will close behind us many, many happy events which will become pleasant memories forever.

We have played our last game, attended our last class, prayed together for the last time, heard our last mass together, held our last assembly, sang our school song together for the last time, but have not shed our last tears.

After four years at St. Stanislaus High School, our group of one hundred and twenty-five young men and women will begin its real work. Many plan to enter college in the fall. Others will try their hand in various fields of industry.

We called ourselves "Victors" throughout the high school days. It was an appropriate name, for our senior class has had some victories. Our Varsity Nite crowd broke the previous record. We went way over our quota in the Athletic Patron Drive. Our dances and other affairs were successful. The girls' team, composed of seniors, won not one but TWO titles. If the past, in any way, can foretell the future, we will certainly be a happy lot.

All these successes and victories, however, call for a note of gratitude to those who helped us attain them. Thanks to the faculty for encouraging us to reach and surpass our goals; thanks, also, to the student body for the whole-hearted cooperation and friendships which made our school days the happiest days.

Leaving S. H. Hi, we undoubtedly will cry a little, but these tears will not dampen our spirit. It will live on in the hearts of every true Stanislausian. And now as we leave, we fondly say good-bye; we will miss you . . .

The School Relations

Yes, we're happy people when we're together . . . these couples seem to say as they "glide 'cross the floor", amidst witches and goblins which created an eerie atmosphere on Halloween Night. Yes, Mr. and Mrs. Kilroy were there, too.

There's a dance tonight . . . and the crowd gathers to check their coats.

Pause that refreshes . . . smiles that shine . . . when happy groups meet to chat over the music or those certain couples teasing each other and drinking coke.

Department

The efforts of School Relations Department add quite a bit to social atmosphere of our Student Life. They sponsor dances, roller skating parties, small get-togethers and those other special days.

Not only does this department supervise and carry on tickets for our school affairs, but it develops co-operation by helping other schools with their sales and adds to forming of friendships outside of school, thereby contributing to the development of social life.

The "magnum opus" of the School Relation Department is the Senior Prom. It is the night of loveliness—fragrant corsages — smiling friends and dreamy music. The camera has caught them in the act of planning the decorations for it. The theme is to be "Apple Blossom Time at S. S. Hi."

A GAY CROWD . . . of cheerful fans filled the gym for the dance after the Orchard Lake game, and it was a gay crowd for our Broncos were victorious. This pleasant evening of music and dancing was given by the Rev. Pastor as a reward for the splendid cooperation in the Athletic Drive.

We work together and Play together

FEEDING THE P. A. RECORDS . . . are H. Snytka, D. Wroblewska, G. Domanska, and J. Kudla. The P. A. serves other purposes than just to make announcements. Hearts, voices, and feet all move in happy rhythm, and the sweet magic of music is afloat when we just press the button.

WORKING TOGETHER . . . L. Grzegorzewski, E. Daneluk, B. Plotzke and D. Gordon claim that they can do better work on Stan-Teen nights. There are many to offer help when one gets stuck.

The Stan-teen Club

When people stop thinking of themselves and begin to work out plans which will be beneficial to others, they have a taste of true happiness. The Stan-Teen Committee will vouch for the above statement. Under the guidance of Rev. Arthur Krawczak and Sister M. Julia, a Stan-Teen Club was organized to provide an opportunity for the teen-agers to play together, have fun together, and exchange ideas to attain a truer knowledge of each others' lives, ambitions, likes and dislikes, in a word, by mutual understanding help to make the Stanislausians one happy family.

Besides the gymnasium and bowling alleys, used on scheduled evenings, the club offers four large rooms furnished with ping-pong and card tables, two pianos, snooker and pool tables. The spacious corridor gives room for dancing.

Thank You!

These happy faces are just a few of the faces of the hundred and twenty-five seniors, smiling over the success of the annual patron drive. They extend our sincerest thanks to all the Patrons who responded with such great generosity to their pleas. Without the help of our friends and relatives who have contributed we would not be able to record those events and immortalize them in this 1947 edition of "The Stan-Em". We do hope that their kindness will be repaid many, many times.

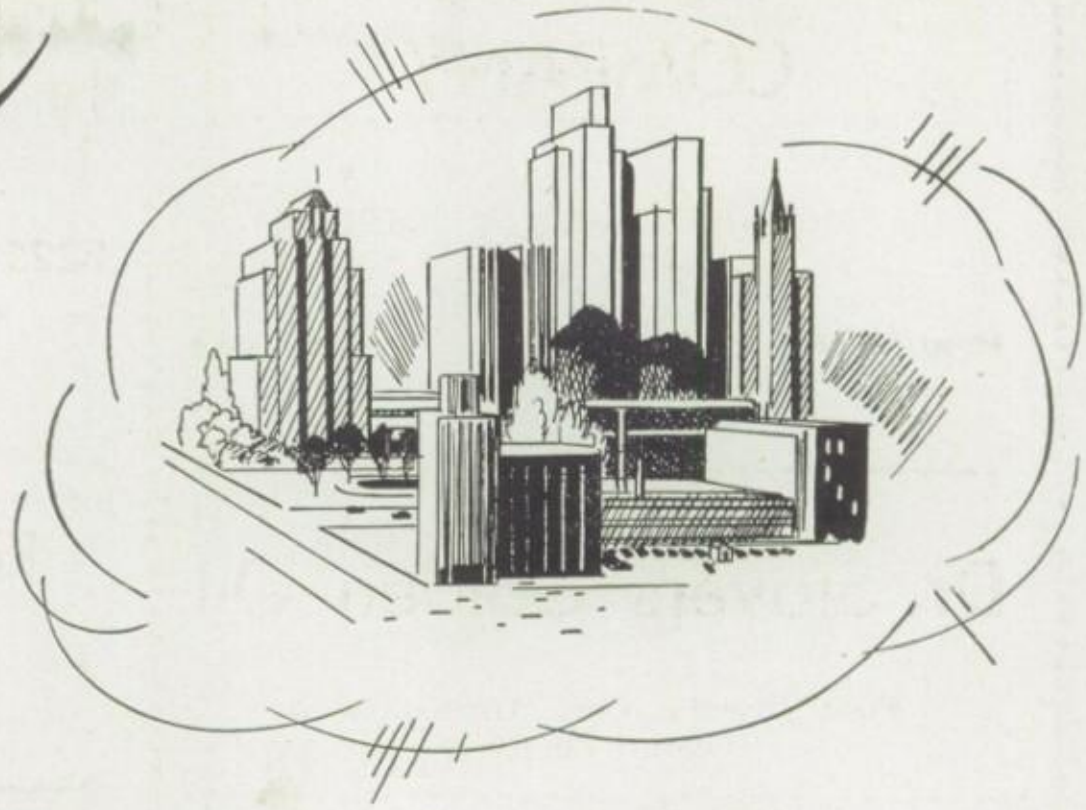
The Future



That's the way it is—always it seems so far away . . . The Future. Then suddenly it's here today. Graduation. A new start on new things. For a girl it's a little like—well . . . a little like being in the clouds, without any solid and accustomed ground. It means the adventure of building all over again, building on the foundation that years of school have meant.

We know how it is, because every year so many girl graduates find their place with Michigan Bell and carve out a real place in the world of business with us. They find it a happy place to make a natural transition. Here at Michigan Bell you are almost certain to find some of your friends, and the kind of young men and women with whom you'll like to make new friends.

Among all the pleasant things about telephone work, there are many sound business advantages—a variety of jobs; high starting wages along with a gradual learning process; regular and frequent wage increases; opportunities for advancement; understanding supervisors; paid vacations; and numerous others.

If you're a girl soon to finish school, and are thinking of entering business life, we of Michigan Bell would like to have you visit us prior to graduation so we can tell you all about our work.
